Cut the Budget—Save the Palms

I thoroughly agree with the philosophy of Theresa Yianilos of La Jolla.

She is complaining to all who will listen that many of San Diego's tall, stately palm trees are being chopped down.

But she is not fighting a losing battle. She is beginning to gather supporters who have a very simple philosophy: "Quit chopping down our palm trees."

Yianilos is angry because the Port Authority chopped down 102 palm trees around the airport and south on Harbor dr. The Port Authority operates the airport and the Port Authority is responsible for chopping the trees down.

Port Director Don Nay, in the best bureaucratic demeanor, is reported as having said that Yianilos "wants a scalp on her belt when the Palm Society comes here next summer."

Yianilos, 55, is an ex-Marine, a horticulturist and the author of a Greek cookbook. Obviously, she has something going for her.

This was proven when she did battle with the City of Chula Vista and won a reprieve for the palm trees around the city building after the city ordered them chopped down.

As a result of her latest squawk the local coastal zone commission has ordered an embargo on palm tree chopping.

Nay is reported to have complained that "It's government by windsock if we have to every lady who comes along yapping about her plants..."

He had admitted that he isn't particularly fond of palms and described them as "doric columns lined up like Burma Shave signs."

Personally, I am a palm tree aficionado. The palm does as much for the atmosphere of Southern California in general, and San Diego in particular, as does the avocado, carnation and poinsettia.

What's more it gets pretty tiresome learning that non-elected bureaus are deciding what's good for us.

In the case of the Port Authority, we'd better get them back to basics.

They must begin to understand that the palm trees belong to us—not to an insensitive bureau.

Since our tax money is being used to payroll Port District staff and if they are using our time and our tax money to chop down our stately palms, it is evident that there are too many people on the Port Authority payroll.

That's where the chopping should start—and with this year's budget.

Up 19 Percent—and Growing

Where State Gets $$ Where Your Tax $$ Go

State General Fund cash receipts for the first half of Fiscal Year 1977-78 were $5,777,572,072 while government cost expenditures totaled $5,989,447,789 for the same period, State Controller Kenneth Cory reported.

The revenue receipts through December 31 were $920,469,689 greater than for the same period a year ago, an increase of 18.95 percent. The expenditures were $595, 445,958 higher than a year earlier, an increase of 11.04 percent.

"Although growing economic activity and inflation continue to increase both revenues and expenditures, the two cash flow elements maintained their usual relationship of expenditures slightly exceeding revenues during the first six months," Cory said. "This reverses as the year progresses."

Major revenue sources produced these receipts through December:

Sales tax, $2,203,147,558 (up 0.263,132,164 from 1976-77); personal income tax, $2,022,623,986 (up $375,225,626); bank and corporation franchise and income taxes, $813,758,855 (up $201,293,820); inheritance tax, $192,325,106 (up $35,016,165); cigarette tax, $93,435,437 (down $4,144,919), and insurance companies tax, $158,465,780 (up $35,583,374).

Also, liquor taxes and licenses, $71,059,555 (down $904,898); interest income, $59,315,988 (down $8,525,880); horse racing revenue, $32,159,110 (up $1,667,823); health care receipts, $47,005,970 (up $3,401,897); gift tax, $6,121,817 (down $4,816,590); revenue from State lands, $5,495,328 (up $807,844).

Major disbursements were: School apportionments, $1,604,952,439 (up $71,198,420); social welfare programs, $714,986,004 (up $68,444,472); health care benefits, $629,893,704 (up $159,006,303); State colleges and universities, $323,520,455 (up $30,934,210); University of California, $334,738,532 (down $24,487,963), and bond interest and redemption, $189,942,428 (up $5,342,785).

Also, senior citizens property tax relief, $34,927,332 (up $32,528,071); Renters Property Tax Relief, $5,388,415 (up $3,071,820); personal property tax relief (business inventory) $344,761,564 (up $15,115,542); Homeowners Property Tax Relief, $381,762,251 (down $149,809).

SMART BANK CLERK—Pamela Miller receives plaque from Kiwanis president Duke Duggan for her part in the apprehension and identification of a youth allegedly involved in an arson-burglary crime on Palm st. in Lemon Grove. His arrest closed 8 other local burglaries, police said.

The club has an ongoing crime suppression program and Miller's award was the second made in recent weeks. Locking on at right is Chuck Ashby, a member of the club and manager of Imperial Savings and Loan, for whom Miller works.

Pam Miller Wins Kiwanis Award

A teen-age youth proffered a $200 withdrawal slip to Pamela Miller at the Lemon Grove Imperial Savings & Loan.

He had a bank book and the proper account number on the withdrawal slip—but the signatures didn't match.

Being as sharp as she is pretty, the bank clerk merely called the persons who lives on Golden ave. in whose name the account was registered to check out the variance.

A Lemon Grove fireman answered the phone. "The house is burning," he reported. She quickly told him what was happening. He, in turn, told the sheriff's deputies who were on traffic control at the site of the fire. Already, the firemen suspected arson and the faculty withdrawal slip tied everything together through Miller's telephone call.

Within minutes, a deputy was on his way to the bank but the youth had left after hurling the paper at Miller.

The youth was picked up a block from where he attempted to get the money. Police charged him with arson and burglary and his arrest, they say, untangled 8 more burglaries.

Last week, on Wednesday Miller was feted at the regular meeting of the L.G. Kiwanis.

Business License Is Chamber Topic

The proposed Lemon Grove City business license consideration will be discussed by City Manager Jack Shelper today at noon at the regular monthly meeting of the L.G. Chamber of Commerce.

Any business person, chamber member or not, is invited to attend. Skandia is at Broadway and Kempf sts.

Those who wish input on the matter may contact the Chamber of Commerce or City Manager Shelper at City Hall.

Damage Great, Loot Small at Delron's

A selective burglar kicked in the front door (replacement $300) of Delron's new store at 7949 Broadway, Lemon Grove on January 15 about 2:30 a.m. and took from the place 2 identification bracelets and 1 T-shirt.

The T-shirt was taken from a manikin in the show window. The bracelets were taken from a display case. Apparently, the rest of the merchandise did not appeal to him.

A witness gave a description of the burglar to sheriff's deputies.

School Enrollment Upswing Predicted for the 1980's

The bottom line on declining school enrollments may show itself by 1980.

That was the prediction of Dr. Robert Sutton, Lemon Grove School District Superintendent, in Tuesday night's school board meeting held at San Altos School Auditorium.

Dr. Sutton predicted next year's enrollment would dip to about 3,300, 100 students down from this year's enrollment.

In the following year, the enrollment curve would dip to its lowest point, 3050 youngsters.

From that low of 3,050, enrollment could begin on an upswing.

It was mixed news for the local school district since the financial situation hinges on the number of students enrolled in the district.

The more students enrolled, the more state dollars the school district qualifies for. Yet the more students entering the local schools means increased need for facilities.

In other items from the Tuesday trustee meeting:

—The board set their monthly stipend at $80 in accordance with a state law effective January 1.

Previously, school board members were paid a token $20 a meeting for their services and now, through the new legislation sponsored by state rep. Wadie Deddeh, will get the increase.

—The board also approved a program of free preventive dental screening for the students of Lemon Grove Schools. The project is being offered at no charge by two longtime local dentists, Drs. Roger Ballard and George Matosian, and will focus on finding future dental problems.

—Also the board approved a resolution from 73rd District Assemblyman Dennis Mangers to place a moratorium on further education legislation until the manifestations of the new school finance bill, AB-65, could be worked out.

—Also, the board approved the Association for the Retarded Read-A-Thon, —considered a policy for bus evacuation,

—and the board directed Assistant Superintendent Paul Reynolds to prepare bids for bus replacement.

Class to Start in Modern Metrics

The Modern Metric System for Parents, Teachers and Scholars will be taught beginning February 1 at the El Cajon Adult Center.

John H. Corbett, Western Regional Director and former Vice President of the U.S. Metric Assn., will teach the modern metric system in a series of five meetings, held on consecutive Wednesday evenings.

Corbett writes the weekly metric column for this newspaper.

"The metric system is an easy system to learn," says Corbett. "There is no need for complex arithmetic or converting back and forth between the two systems. Everyone who can make change for a dollar already knows the basic metric principles. It's like pennies, dimes and dollars—1 to 10 to 100 to 1000, etc."

There are no entrance requirements.

Register in the classroom (Room 110) at the El Cajon Adult Center on Wednesday evening, February 1st.

Meeting begins at 7 p.m. Registration is 2.

Tax Deadline Nears For Institutional Property Exemptions

3,000 institutional property tax exemption forms were mailed from the Assessor's office Friday, and Assessor E. C. Williams urges all of the institutions involved to promptly complete the forms and return them. "To delay may cost money," Williams said.

Included in the institutional property category are churches, colleges, hospitals, retirement homes, private and parochial schools, religious retreats, cemeteries, public school leases, free libraries and museums, and veterans' organizations.

In all cases, except for churches, to qualify for the full exemption allowed by law to these institutions, the claim forms must be completed and filed with the Assessor's office by March 15. After March 15, claims filed late will receive only a 90% exemption. The filing date for church claims only has, by legislation, been extended until March 31 to qualify for the full exemption.

"In past years, some claimants have been disappointed to receive only the 90% exemption when they found that their accountant, bookkeeper, attorney, or whoever was responsible for filing their claim, had set the form aside for later attention, and due to the delay, missed the filing deadline," Williams added. "We want everyone to receive their full exemption, and we advise that the forms be completed and mailed immediately."

His phone number is 236-3133.

LG Draws $31,250 Sales, Use Taxes

Lemon Grove's cut of the state's $70.3 sales and use tax bite is $31,250 according to Iris Sankey, member of the State Board of Equalization.

The funds represent the second advance payment for the 4th quarter of 1977.

The board of equalization administers the 6% sales and use tax funds. 4 3/4% stays with the state; 1% goes to cities and 1/4 of 1% goes to counties.

Litter Tax Paid Year Too Early

The State Board of Equalization has been receiving payments on the new litter assessment that are not due until next year.

Iris Sankey, Board Member, today reminded sales and use tax permit holders that payments for the new Litter Control, Recycling and Resource Recovery Assessments covering business done in 1978 will not be due and payable until 1979.

The only payment required currently is from businesses which terminate, or for businesses operating under a temporary permit.

Sankey said that sales and use tax permit holders who continue their business operations will receive the necessary report form through the mail early in 1979 to pay for 1978.

Permit holders who terminate their business activities during 1978 should contact the nearest office of the State Board of Equalization to close out their permits and secure the litter assessment report forms.

Applications Accepted For Service Academies

U. S. Senator S. I. Hayakawa (R-Calif.) will accept applications for the U. S. Air Force, Naval and Merchant Marine Academies for the Class of 1983 which enters in summer 1979.

Candidates must be between 17 and 22 years of age, be a United States citizen at the time of enrollment and unmarried. Competition for appointment is based on the candidate's high school rank, leadership potential and either ACT (American College Testing Assessment) or SAT (College Board Scholarship Aptitude Test) scores.

Applications are to be mailed after February 1 and not later than December 15 to the senator's office, care of Linda Manske, 6217 Dirksen Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Applicants to the U. S. Coast Guard Academy should apply directly to the Director of Admissions, U. S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Connecticut 06320, since appointments are based on nationwide competition and not on Congressional appointment.

Beach Business Ready

Bids to equip, operate and maintain a snack bar and beach equipment rental facility at Moonlight State Beach, S.D. County, will be accepted by the State Department of Parks and Recreation, 1416 9th st., Sacramento, 95814, until February 22, 2 p.m.

A prospectus, including bid forms, may be inspected—or purchased for $5—at 1350 Front st., Room 6054, San Diego.

FIRST LG ROTARY HONORARY PRESIDENT Lemon Grove Rotary Club. Honors were given EMERITUS status has been bestowed upon recently by L.G. Rotary Club President John William Zilker (l), a 20 year member of the Stenbeck.

There's An Answer

By Mr. and Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale

Can't Enjoy

Q. I am 32 years old, have been married four times and have four children, all by different marriages.

My last wife just left me after tolerating me for four years.

I just don't want to live any more. Actually, I've been depressed all my life.

What is boils down to is that I have never been able to enjoy life so I have given up and just sit home and feel sorry for myself.

I have my own home, my own business and don't owe a cent to anyone.

I've worked hard for everything I have. I am told I have every reason in the world to be happy, but I'm not. The doctors tell me there is nothing they can do to help me. Thank you for any help you can give me.

A. Your problem, it seems to us, is an acute disorganization, a total lack of a life goal. Four wives and four children at 32 years certainly doesn't add up to a creative life experience.

People are wrong when they tell you that you have every reason to be happy. In fact, you have every reason not to be happy. We suggest that you make a list of what you would like from life and decide what you would like your life to be.

Then do a creative reconstruction job on the attitudes that have turned four marriages into failures.

Once you start reorganizing your personality you will have taken the first step toward a happy life.

We have a booklet, "Enthusiasm!", which has helped others with problems such as yours, and a copy of it is on its way to you. Anyone else wishing a free copy may receive one by writing to us in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Wants to Be Alone

Q. One day eight years ago when I was at work I was called to the office and told my 18-year-old son was just

Military Widows To Meet

Scheduled speaker for the monthly meeting of the Society of Military Widows will be Dr. Kathryn Breese-Whiting, the president and founder of an Arizona based awareness institute.

The meeting will be held at 10 a.m. February 4 in the Commissioned Officer's Club, U. S. Naval Station, 32nd st.

Breese-Whiting will speak on women living alone.

killed in a car wreck. I guess it was the shock — I never could go back to work and since then I have wanted to just be alone.

I can't talk to my husband and other children like I once could. I get all upset until I can get all alone by myself.

They have got where they don't come around very much any more. I am living a very lonely life. I don't want to be like this, but I don't know what to do about it. The doctors can't seem to help. I'll be looking for an answer.

A. Eight years ago you did, indeed, go through a tragic experience. The result was a personality shock from which you have never recovered.

As terrible as the experience was, it is abnormal that you should still remain in shock. You must take yourself in hand and force yourself to be natural with your husband and other children. By not doing so you are treating them unfairly. As you act normally you will presently become normal in your handling of grief. You can change if you will to do so. Start today by deciding to act like a responsible person and a loving wife and mother.

Ex-boy Friend Wants To Make Up

Q. I'm a 13-year-old girl and I used to go with a 19-year-old male. Then we broke up and he went with someone else. Now he is hinting that he would like to go with me again.

My mother says that she don't care if I go with him, but my father says I shouldn't for the way he treated me.

Also when I talk to my father he says do what you want to do. How do I get my father to like him? Please hurry with letter. I'm desperate and need to know.

A. Being desperate means that you are too uptight. A boy friend to a 13-year-old girl isn't all that important. There are many others where he came from.

The only way you can get your father to like this particular boy is for the boy to be worth liking. Anyway, he isn't bound to you or anybody else, and he has a right to go with other girls. In fact he should do that.

And in the next few years you, too, should be making lots of boy and girl friendships.

If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale in discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 50, Pawling, NY 12564.

Peale to Head 8-Hour Rally

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, businessman-author W. Clement Stone, and news commentator Paul Harvey are among 8 nationally and internationally-known speakers who will present an eight-hour "Success Rally" Thursday, February 9, in the San Diego Sports Arena.

Geared to the concept of positive mental attitude, successful motivation and the spirit of free enterprise, presentations will begin at 1:30 p.m. and continue until 9:30 p.m.

Other speakers on the panel who are recognized throughout the country as authorities in the fields of motivation, salesmanship and inspiration are Dottie Walters, the only woman on the program, whose "Selling Power of a Woman" is now in its 11th printing; Dr. Robert H. Schuller, founder and pastor of the celebrated Garden Grove Community Church featured world-wide in the televised series, "Hour of Power"; Art Holst, an NFL pro football official who uses football to put across selling tips and techniques; Zig Ziglar and Don Hutson, professional speakers and sales motivators.

Tickets are $10 and $15 at Sports Arena ticket agencies.

Laca—The Lost Art Is

Program for LG Women

The lost art of knitted laca will be the program at tomorrow's meeting of the Lemon Grove Woman's Club.

Scheduled for 1:30 p.m. in the Club House, 2810 Main st., the meeting will be called to order by President Mrs. James Matthews.

Displaying and demonstrating the knitted articles will be Mrs. Mirretta Peterson.

Hostesses for the tea hour are Mrs. Paul Hochenbury and Miss Ruth Swanson.

Hypothermia — Drops in Body Temperature — Warning Issued

The National Institute on Aging has recommended to senior citizens they do not turn their thermostats below 65 degrees.

The Institute said older Americans are susceptible to hypothermia, or fatal drops in body temperature.

If a person is 65 years or older and has a disease of the veins or arteries, is taking certain drugs such as phenothiazine (an anti-depressant), or has a body temperature regulating system which is not working properly, these people may be vulnerable to drops in body temperature.

If a person's body temperature does not rise above 94 degrees F, the condition should be suspected and a doctor called immediately.

Other signs include: —victims who do not shiver.

'Switchblade' to Play At Balboa Park Church

An epic in religious movies, Pat Boone's "The Cross and the Switchblade", the story of an upstate New York preacher who sets up missionaries in the rougher side of the Bronx, will be the feature at the Balboa Park Baptist Church.

The program will be held Saturday at 7 p.m. in the church, 2825 Fifth avenue.

Some 900 seats are available for the performance and complementary tickets are available for the performance.

Tickets are available by calling 298-3020. Refreshments will follow the program.

Holland Film To Show At Grossmont College

"The New Holland," a color adventure, 90-minute film, will be presented on Tuesday, at 2 p.m. and at 8 p.m., in the new East County Performing Arts Center, 210 E. Main st., El Cajon.

The film emphasizes today's progressive Holland in contrast with the historic, traditional Holland of yesteryear.

The admission charge for this program is $1, and it is presented as a community service by Grossmont Community College District.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS — Jennifer Ryan, 7, 10028 Norte Mesa dr., Spring Valley; David Harper, 7, Nida pl., Lemon Grove; and Pamela Ryan, 11, Spring Valley, will be helping to sell chocolate covered mints and dry roasted peanuts at Camp Fire Girls Annual Product Sale February 1-19.

Camp Fire Fund-Raiser To Start in February

More than 2,200 Camp Fire members and some 500 leaders and other volunteers will be participating in the San Diego County Council's Annual Production Sale February 1 through 19.

The red, white and blue clad youngsters may be found in shopping centers, stores, businesses, and public areas throughout the County.

This year's products will be chocolate covered mints and dry roasted peanuts.

The Camp Fire Annual Product Sale benefits the Council's camping programs which include Day Camps at Camp Cahito in Balboa Park and at Fallbrook, Waterfront and Aquatics camps at Mission Bay Aquatic Center, Horseman's Camp at Rancho Meador in Del Mar, and Beach Camp at Oceanside, as well as the Council's resident camp, Camp Wolahi, at Lake Cuyamaca.

The Annual Product Sale represents 35 per cent of the Council's annual budget and is the key supplemental funding project aside from United Way/CHAD support.

This year's Product Sale goal is $100,000, which is about $25,000 more than was raised last year.

Starlight Moves To New Headquarters

The offices and warehouse of Starlight Opera has moved. The new quarters now occupy a facility at 4408 Twain ave. near the intersection of Mission Gorge rd. and Highway 8. The location had previously been in the Ford bldg. in Balboa Park.

Mrs. Victor Krulak, president of the S.D. Civic Light Opera Assn., said the 16-year old building was formerly occupied by the Standard Sheet Metal Works.

Starlight had occupied all or part of the Ford Building but relocation was dictated by a renovation program of the old facility by the City of San Diego.

Executive producer/general manager, J. Howard Stein said that Starlight now has a permanent home as a base of operations and that while space is still at a premium to construct new sets or repair old ones, locating the general administrative offices and the warehouse under the same roof will make for a much more efficient operation, thus effecting further economies to help combat rising prices.

The summer musical productions presented by Starlight will continue to be presented in the Starlight Bowl in Balboa Park.

This year's shows will be: "The Music Man" — July 13, 14, 15, 16-20, 21, 22, 23 "Kismet" — August 3, 4, 5, 6-10, 11, 12, 13 "Annie Get Your Gun" — August 24, 25, 26, 27-31 & Set. 1, 2, 3

Home Weatherizing Is New MAAC Project

The MAAC Project expanded its Weatherizing Program from only providing the labor for weatherizing a house to providing the materials as well. In addition, the program has begun serving the East County.

The project is designed to assist low income citizens who own and occupy their homes in conserving energy.

It offers these services at low or no cost to qualified homeowners: Replacing broken glass, insulating, caulking windows, weather stripping around doors and windows, dry wall repair, and minor painting, plumbing, and electrical repairs related to energy conservation.

Service is on a first-come, first-serve basis, with priority given to senior citizens, handicapped and disabled persons, and families with infants.

Call the MAAC Project Weatherization Program at 474-7004 to see if you qualify.

Stories Planned Today At L.G. Library

A series of story hours featuring finger plays and flannel board presentations will begin at the Lemon Grove Library this morning at 10:30 a.m.

The eight week series will include a special valentine craft program on February 9 and a puppet show titled "The Mysterious Easter Egg" on March 2.

The presentations are for children ages 3 to 5 and the library is located at 7735 Pacific ave.

Art Demonstration

Artist Garnetta Finnegan will demonstrate the painting of a portrait in oils at the Fine Arts Gallery in La Mesa. Working from a model, Finnegan will begin the demonstration on February 2 at 7 p.m.

The program is sponsored by the Foothills Art Association.

Las Donas Presidents To Meet on Tuesday

Election of officers and a decision on the Social Welfare Donations for the year will be on the agenda for Tuesday's meeting of the Las Donas Past President's Club.

The club will meet at the Bali Ha'i Shelter Island Hotel at 10:30 a.m.

Also, members of the club will sponsor an outing to the Belleville's Dinner Theatre on February 26 for the play "Westside Story". Brunch is included in the $11 a person ticket price and reservations for the outing may be made through Dottie Nottingham at 469-6667. The event is open to all area residents.

2 Programs Due For Family Group

The San Diego Genealogical Society will host guest speaker Elsie Mettack at their monthly meeting held at 1 p.m. February 11 at the North Park Recreation Center.

Mettack will speak on "Is That Lineage Right?"

Also Clifford Neal Smith will be the featured speaker at the Society's Workshop held in the Ballroom of the Cafe Del Rey Moro March 11.

Smith is the contributing editor of the National Genealogical Society Quarterly and will head the workshop from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Reservations are necessary and may be secured by writing Mary Lee Page, 5394 Bloch st., San Diego, 92122.

Tryouts for Play

Tryouts for "The Gingerbread Lady", a play by Neil Simon and an upcoming production of the Lamplighters Community Theatre at the Fine Arts Center in La Mesa, will be held at 7:30 p.m. February 5 and 6 at the Lamplighters Theatre, 8053 University ave., La Mesa.

The play will open on March 31 and continue on weekends through April 22.

Classes Open Tue-Wed For Singing Groups

Spring semester classes for two singing groups, the Harmonettes and the Generations, will open respectively on Tuesday and Wednesday.

First rehearsals for the Generations, a mixed choral group, will be Tuesday night from 7 to 10 p.m. in room 75 of Grossmont High School.

Rehearsals for the Harmonettes, a women's choral group, will be held Wednesday morning from 9 to 11:30 a.m. in the La Mesa United Methodist Church, 4690 Palm ave.

A Lemon Grove resident, Lori Hall, is the director of the groups.

To register for the classes contact Lori Hall at 466-9639, Marti Ligon at 466-5040 or the Helix Adult School at 461-7482.

Past post commanders and past Auxiliary presidents will be honored. Dinner is $3.50 a person.

Monterey Jack Ratatouille

Popular and least expensive of the cheeses, Monterey Jack, and colorful fresh vegetables make this entree called Monterey Jack Ratatouille.

The ratatouille is done in layers with sauteed eggplant, green pepper, zucchini and onion.

The flavors mingle superbly as the casserole bakes. It takes about an hour for ratatouille to be served.

Monterey Jack Ratatouille

- 1 eggplant, about 1 1/4 lbs.
- 1/2 pound zucchini
- 1 green pepper
- 4 slices bacon
- 1 cup sliced onion
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1/3 cup tomato paste
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon fines herbes or thyme
- 1 teaspoon minced garlic
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 (14 1/2-ounce) can sliced tomatoes
- 1 (12-ounce) package sliced monterey jack cheese
- Slice eggplant, zucchini and green pepper. Cut bacon into 2 inch lengths. Fry with onion, until cooked.
- Mix in olive oil, tomato paste, salt, fines herbes, garlic, flour and undrained sliced tomatoes.

Rebekah Lodge To Install

Mesa Jewel Rebekah Lodge No. 409, Independent Order of Odd Fellows will have an installation ceremony February 1, 7:30 p.m., at the VFW Hall, 2885 Imperial ave., Lemon Grove.

The center also accepts a limited number of applications for senior participants in their Senior Nutrition Program, under which 100 hot meals a day are provided to those 60 years and older in Southeast S.D.

For applications call 233-6691.

Mothers March Ends Tuesday

More than 15,000 mothers in San Diego and Imperial Counties will take part in the annual March of Dimes Mothers March campaign which concludes Tuesday, January 31, reports Mrs. Robert E. Swisher, chairman of the fund raising project.

She said funds raised during this campaign will help support research and educational programs being conducted at the Salk Institute, U.C. San Diego and Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation.

"We have asked mothers to begin their door-to-door campaigns as soon as they receive their kits but January 31 is the actual target date," Mrs. Swisher added.

"The March of Dimes channels money into numerous programs throughout the country but it is interesting to note that so much of this does come to San Diego. For example, more than $40 million in grants have been given to the Salk Institute.

"When the National Foundation entered the fight against birth defects some 19 years ago, it knew it was embarking on something much greater and much deeper than those words alone would signify. The studies being made are on the processes of life itself . . . through medicine, biology, chemistry, physics and sociology."

Senior Citizens Needed For Local School Jobs

School children need senior citizens.

A call went out this week from June West, representing the Retired Seniors Volunteer Program (RSVP), for seniors — up to 80 — to serve as volunteers in the first 3 grades.

Such volunteers — preferably the grandma-grandpa types — will serve 2 or 3 hours, once a week on a 1-to-1 basis.

No experience is needed, West said. There are 4 schools in Lemon Grove and at least one in Casa de Oro needing these volunteers to free teachers for other classroom duties.

There is no pay involved, but mileage is paid. Volunteers are covered by personal liability insurance from their home to the destination and back.

"It is a warm and useful experience for those taking part in the program," West said. "Seniors are able to see youngsters thrive under their experienced guidance."

The Lemon Grove schools where RSVP's are needed are: Mt. Vernon, Monterey Heights; San Altos and Golden Ave.

West can be reached at 440-0487 or her home, 469-1381.

Her office is at 215 E. Douglas in El Cajon.

San Diego's Favorite — Billy Casper

Pros Take Over at Torrey Pines

It's down to the nitty gritty of the Andy Williams San Diego open golf tournament today as the nation's leading pros take over following the Celebrity Pro-Am yesterday at Torrey Pines.

Commitments from the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am at Pebble Beach have swollen entry ranks for the $200,000 event which concludes Sunday on the South course.

Among the pros will be Billy Casper, everyman's favorite golfer, who lived in Bonita until recently. He now lives in Springfield, Utah.

With Golfer of the Year and defending champion Tom Watson, Tom Weiskopf, Miller Barber, Ray Floyd, Bill Kratzert, Andy Bean, Tom

Kite and Jerry McGee (all in nation's top 15) already in the fold, most significant additions were Bruce Lietzke, fifth on the 1977 money list; Tony Jacklin, former U.S. Open titlist; Andy North; Mike Morley, Jim Simons and Mike McCullough.

San Diego County entries include John Schroeder and Craig Stadler, La Jolla; Billy Casper, formerly of Bonita; Vic Regalado and Jack Spradlin, San Diego; Cesar Sandoz, El Cajon; McCullough, Escondido; and Lon Hinkle, Santee.

Some of this group had to attempt to qualify on Monday.

Former AWSDO champions going after the $40,000 first prize today include Watson, Weiskopf, Bobby Nichols, and George Archer.

Other entries of note who didn't have to qualify for today's action include Mark Hayes, Graham Marsh, Leonard Thompson, George Burns, Larry Nelson, Lee Elder, Don January, Joe Inman, Peter Oosterhuis, Dave Eichelberger, Doug Sanders, and Orville Moody.

Child-rearing Examined

An overview of the problems confronting child-rearing will be examined by a panel of experts on a KPBS-TV special aired tomorrow night.

At 9 p.m., "Crosstalk: Parenting" will be aired on the educational television station.

Ned Blass Named Coach of the Year

Ned Blass of Valhalla High School has been selected as a recipient of the high school wrestling Coach-of-the-Year award for 1978.

Recipients are nominated and selected by their fellow coaches throughout the state. Criteria for selection is career coaching performance and excellence in the specific sport and professional contributions of time, service, and dedication to the coaching profession and/or athletics, according to Ed Strelow, secretary of the California Coaches Assn.

Coach Blass will be honored at the 21st annual CCA convention awards banquet at 8 p.m. January 27, at the Inn at the Park Hotel in Anaheim.

CCA is an organization of high school, junior high, and community college coaches throughout the state dedicated to improving interscholastic athletics.

Bob Pyle, principal at Valhalla High School said, "Coach Blass, as an outstanding teacher and coach, is an asset to Valhalla and the Grossmont community. We feel very fortunate to have him as a member of our staff."

"He is a credit to the teaching profession and we feel most deserving of this honor."

Lake Oroville Re-Opens

SACRAMENTO — The permanent boat launch ramp in the spillway area of Lake Oroville State Recreation Area is in operation for the first time since early last spring. The 7-lane asphalt ramp has a 15 per cent grade and will accommodate trailerable boats up to 24 feet.

State Park Ranger Doug Jacobson cautioned boaters that the lake level is still below normal, and resubmerged islands and points of land present hazards just below the water surface.

In addition, much formerly waterlogged debris that has sunk to the bottom of the lake is now floating at the surface. Boaters will be informed as soon as other facilities at Lake Oroville resume normal operation.

Aztecs Home for Three-Game Stand

What the S.D. State U. basketball team hopes is a get-well, three-game home stand starts this week when the Aztecs host Fullerton State tonight and UC Santa Barbara on Saturday. The third game of the home stand is against Long Beach on February 2.

Tipoff time for both the Fullerton State and UCSB games is 8 p.m. in the San Diego Sports Arena. Saturday's game with Santa Barbara is the second half of a doubleheader. In the first game, the San Diego State women's team hosts national ranked UCLA at 5:30 p.m.

Fullerton State enters this week's play with a 13-3 overall mark and a 4-0 record in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association. The Titans are tied with Fresno State for first place in the conference.

Santa Barbara is 6-10 overall and 1-3 in PCAA play while San Diego State is 9-7 overall and 2-2 in conference action. Last week, Fullerton won two conference games belting San Jose State 81-66 and Pacific 79-61. UCSB split a pair of PCAA games, losing to Pacific 78-75 and beating San Jose State 70-67. San Diego State also split a pair of PCAA games, topping UC Irvine 90-65 but losing to high riding Fresno State 59-49.

"We were really disappointed in our loss to Fresno State last week," said Aztec coach Tim Vezie. "We played very well until the last few minutes of the game and then things got out of hand."

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

Rollie Fingers, the National League's Reliever of the '77 campaign and Chief Stud in Padre Manager Alvin Dark's bullpen, is loosening up for the 25 February opening of Spring Training by touring the tees and turf of San Diego's great and near great golf works during the National Pastime's semester break.

Rollie took a 9 handicap into the Andy Williams-San Diego Open, but he'll play to scratch when there's a little something besides the sun shining on the cut-come under a press and headed into the home hole.

From the smile beneath his famed handlebar mustache one would guess such was the case during the AWSDO Pro-Am.

You gotta wonder how a native of Steubenville, Ohio comes by such physical dexterity with the tools of golf.

Rollie says he doesn't play much during the baseball season. "You don't take chances wearing yourself out playing golf when you could be called in 5-or-6 days in a row," he explained last mid-season. And his 8-wins and 35 saves offers mute evidence that he worked a six-day week most of the summer.

He could have learned his golf growing up in Steubenville, but with baseball, earning his first car and the rock sounds that passed for music in the early 60s, how much can you learn between the time snow leaves in May and returns in late October.

Of course, Steubenville's other famous son, Dean Martin learned to play a respectable game of golf, and in fact, became quite renowned for his expertise on watering holes.

Maybe it's just the clean living, fresh air and pioneer spirit of Steubenville's sons that brings success to those who really apply themselves to the tasks of their special talents.

There is a case gathering dust in the Steubenville archives, I am told, of a man who preached poverty while in the process of fathering 19 children. Certainly a man dedicated to his calling.

But that is taking us far afield. Fingers playing golf conjures up a whole new sense of gimmickry that almost blows your mind with its reach and implication. It would be great for TV. Even better than celebrity tug-o-war.

It could be the biggest thing to happen to teleports since Howard Cosell concealed his ignorance of boxing, in particular, and sports, in general, with a barrage of verbose verbiage and ambiguous insignificance.

The idea is so simple, it's beautiful. On any course, during any match, allow a relief hitter for the golfer. Of course, unlimited play would be necessary, but just one shot per hole. I mean, after all, who's playing the round.

A whole batch of specialists could be developed for the pro circuit. Rabbits who can't do anything but drive, or pitch, or hit short or long irons could find employment with an exempted player who might have a deficiency in a playing department. Complete players could take on a mudder for wet days.

Think of how great Sam Sneed could have been if he had been allowed the use of a putter? Or Tommy Bolt if someone else had been allowed to hit his ball whenever he lost his temper?

You could extend the rule to allow someone else to be Jack Nicklaus for all except the major tournaments. Arnold Palmer could start a whole new career if a reliever could spell him until it was time to charge.

It's a startling idea. Unprofessional as hell. You'll probably never see it on the PGA tour. But think of it as you view the proceedings of the AWSDO at Torrey Pines this weekend.

And don't be too surprised if you see it on television someday. After all, they're the ones who gave us Howard Cosell.

Friars Home Opener Stars Nastase, Evert

Ilie Nastase and Chris Evert are on their way to San Diego on April 21 according to the Sports Arena home schedule released by the Friars.

San Diego draws Los Angeles for its opening foe which would mean that Nastase (signed) and Evert (about to be) would be the formidable opposition.

Allan Kingston, general manager, released a 19-date home schedule for the Friars with three "home" dates booked for St. Louis. In all, the team will have 44 playing dates prior to the playoffs.

There are 9 weekend dates, 7 Saturdays, with the remainder falling on Wednesday or Thursday nights. All matches begin at 7:30.

"We tried to schedule as many weekend dates as possible," Kingston said. "And I believe what we've worked out is very attractive."

The Friars will meet Los Angeles, Golden Gate, Phoenix and Seattle three times each at the Sports Arena, will face Anaheim and New York twice and Boston, Cleveland and Indiana once each.

Early dates to look out for, in addition to the opener, are April 27 against Martina Navratilova, April 29 against Betty Stove and Tom Gorman, May 4 against Francoise Durr and May 6 against Rosie Casals.

The Friars were 12-7 in the Sports Arena last year and 21-23 overall. The team carried Phoenix to a third and deciding match for the Western Division championship after defeating Golden Gate in the opening playoff round.

Season ticket reservations are now being accepted at the Friars office, 298-9855.

Fans have their choice of several ticket plans and excellent locations are still available.

NASL Soccer Opens At Stadium April 8

15 North American Soccer League teams will be visiting San Diego Stadium this summer to meet the S.D. Sockers in the 11th season of the NASL.

Headlining the slate will be the '77 Pacific Conference Champion and Soccer Bowl finalist Seattle Sounders (July 16). The Los Angeles Aztecs (July 19) and the Rochester Lancers (Opening Day, April 8) both reached the semi-final round of the 1977 Playoffs. The Aztecs are the only team in the NASL to qualify for the playoffs in each of the past four years.

The most optimistic portion of the schedule will be the five games against the league's expansion teams; Houston (April 26), Detroit (May 20), New England (May 31), Philadelphia (June 7), and Memphis (June 10).

Sockers general manager Marvin Milkes said, "We naturally have to be very cautious of expansion teams because one hasn't seen them before, but we feel doubly fortunate in that we face five of them, and on our home field."

The Dallas Tornado, featuring three-time Superstars Champion Kyle Rote, is the 1977 Southern Division Champion and will meet the Sockers on August 3 in what could be a crucial game for the '78 playoff qualifications.

The remaining game featuring a '77 NASL playoff qualifier will be Sunday, June 4, against the always-tough Tampa Bay Rowdies. Tampa has made the post-season playoffs the last three seasons, and was league champion in 1975.

San Diego's home schedule will have a five-week gap due to the 1978 All-Star Baseball Game being played in the stadium on July 11. The Sockers second home-opener will be on July 14 against the Oakland Stompers.

An international exhibition game is tentatively set for Wednesday, May 3, against West Germany's First Division club from Dusseldorf.

The schedule:

April
8 — Rochester
12 — San Jose
26 — Houston
29 — Portland
May
3 — Dusseldorf
6 — California
20 — Detroit

Ski Carnival Revitalized as Mammoth Mountain Event

By Reid Carroll
Ski Writers Assn. of S. California

What if they held a winter carnival and nobody showed up?

That's what happened 8 years ago when a group of people at Mammoth Mountain decided to stage an annual event.

Two days before the festivities were slated, the skies darkened, the ground became a blanket of white with up to 10 feet of snow choking the roads leading into the mountains.

It went into the books as a carnival called because of snow.

In what was scheduled as the final days of the winter carnival, the mountain people were able to dig out from the record snow storms. You might say their enthusiasm for a Winter Carnival had understandably diminished.

But the dreams of some people did not perish in that fierce winter of '69.

In 1977 those hardy souls rekindled the Winter Carnival theme, but unfortunately, there was not enough snow for a variety of events they'd planned.

Fortified by several years of intensive planning and with the benefit of refining those plans, organizers of the 1978 Mammoth Lakes Winter Ski Carnival have set February 2-13 for the 10 days of merriment.

The Sierra shindig begins with a torchlight ski parade at Mammoth Village followed by a masked ball at Marming Hut No. 2 on Mammoth Mountain. Other events are dog sled races, Alpine and Nordic contests, concerts, ice skating and other events associated with a mountain resort area.

Proceeds from the event go to the Mammoth Ski Education Foundation.

Snow conditions are good throughout the Sierra Mountain range. Organizers anticipate a good turnout for the 10-day Winter Carnival.

Runner Steve Scott To Go In S.D. Indoor Track Meet

Steve Scott, perhaps America's finest middle-distance runner, has announced he will run the mile Friday night, February 17, in the Jack in the Box Invitational track meet at the San Diego Sports Arena.

The 21-year-old Scott, a senior at US Irvine, had his first great mile race one year ago in the San Diego meet, even though he lost to Wilson Waigwa of Kenya.

Scott stayed back in the first half of that race, then shot into the lead and dared the likes of John Walker, Fommon Coghan and Waigwa to catch him. Waigwa gave chase and used a sensational kick to nip Scott, but Steve's final time of 3:56.5 established him as the man in America's mile-1,500 future.

Scott was fourth in the NCAA indoor mile, but the first American to finish, then opened his 1977 outdoor season with a 3:57.8 mile. He raced 3:55.1 at the Penn Relays, but was second to Waigwa again. Then Scott scored his most impressive victory of the year.

In the Jamaica Invitational, Steve's time of 3:39.8 beat world record holder Filbert Bayi and Steve Ovett, who later in the year won the World Cup and was rated No. 1 in the world.

Scott ran second (to Waigwa again) in the NCAA finals of the 1,500, but came back to beat the Kenyan in the AAU. And later that season his 3:36.1 for 1,500 meters at the African World Cup Trials in Tunis made him No. 3 on the all-time U. S. list with a time equivalent to a mile in 3:54.

He was rated ninth in the world by Track & Field News.

El Primo Derby At Los Al Sat.

Sophomore colts and geldings take center stage Saturday evening at Los Alamitos Race Course with the running of the $155,000 El Primero Del Ano Derby, the nation's richest quarter horse race exclusively for 3-year-old males.

Nighttime racing continues at Los Alamitos Monday through Saturday evenings with special Dollar Nites still on tap.

Suaves' 177 Points Wins Him a Home with Mariners

By Sharon Griffin

When you score 8 goals and assists for a total of 177 points in the first 8 games of the season, people will begin to notice you.

And the San Diego Mariners' Bob Sauve has begun to get noticed.

Jumping onto the San Diego hockey scene by scoring 4 of those 7 goals on opening night December 25, the 21-year old center has gained early popularity among hockey fans in the area. But San Diego was not the first stop for Sauve.

"This was my 4th training camp this year," Sauve said. "I began the year in Philadelphia and also played in Baltimore and Milwaukee before being contacted by the Mar-do. That has been the main reason for my success so far."

Sauve leads the league, as well as the Mariners, in scoring.

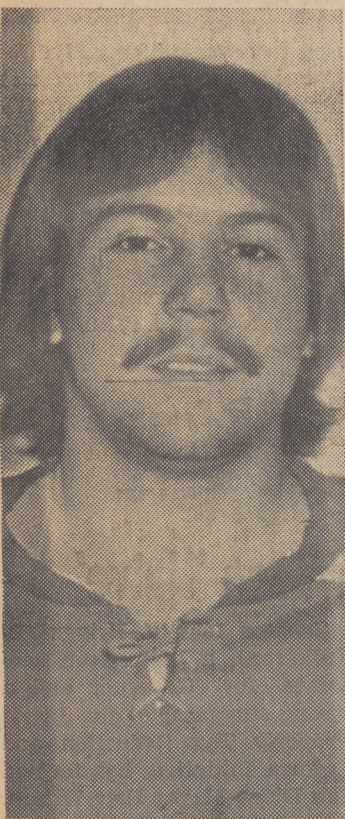

Born in Montreal on July 8, 1956, Sauve began playing hockey at the age of 5. His first year of junior was spent with the Montreal Canadiens junior team, followed by 3 years with the Quebec junior organization. Last season, Sauve was the second leading scorer in the Southern League with the Baltimore Clippers.

When the Pacific Hockey League was formed, many doubts were expressed about its credibility and ability to survive. But the 5'11" center feels that the new league is on strong ground.

"The league is strong due to so much experience in the players," the dashing bachelor said. "The same is true of San Diego. We have Bob Sicinski, who played in the WHA last year, and Gerry Teeple and Joe Fidler, to mention three, all of which play top-notch hockey."

"We've got the ability to be the top team in the league. And I believe, at the end of the season, San Diego will be at the top of the standings."

The Mariners met the Roadrunners last night before giving them a return match in Phoenix tonight. After a game in San Francisco Friday, and in Long Beach Saturday, the Mariners return home to host the Roadrunners at the Sports Arena Tuesday at 8 p.m. iners. I've always wanted to come to California, and that was a big reason for my agreeing to play here.

"But also, I was promised a position on the team. I didn't want to play six or seven games, score five goals, as I did with Milwaukee, and then be told my services weren't needed."

"Butch (Barber) has let me play my style of game, not try to change it as many coaches

Padres Hire Jerry Gross

The San Diego Padres have added veteran sportscaster Jerry Gross to their television broadcast crew for the 1978 season, Executive Vice President Ballard Smith announced.

"We were looking for an experienced man to handle the color on our television games for this season and Gross fit the bill," Smith said.

Gross will handle the color commentary on 20 of the Padres 22 scheduled games on XETV (Channel 6).

He will join regular announcers Jerry Coleman and Dave Campbell with the exact format for the broadcasts yet to be determined.

Titlist Defends Wrestling Crown

A professional wrestling tilt for the San Diego Championship tops the card Tuesday at the Coliseum, 15th and E. sts. in downtown San Diego.

Defending his newly acquired title is El Faraon. Ron Bass is the challenger.

A no-disqualification bout in which anything goes matches Victor Rivera and Chavo Guerrero.

Other bouts have Hector Guerrero meeting The Canadian; Johnny Rivera battling Coloso Coletti, and Dr. Toa meeting Rick McGraw.

The gong sounds for the first match at 7:30 p.m.

Tj Fight Cards Draw Big Crowds

A heavy turnout of Baja California fans — as usual — is expected Monday night in Tijuana when 3 10-round boxing matches are offered at the Tijuana Municipal Auditorium, starting at 8:45.

Abdul Bey of L.A. scraps with Negro Torres of Tijuana; Mike Stewart of L.S. fights Rafael Rubin and Gustavo Torres of Juarez mixes with Ruben Solorio. There are also 2 preliminary bouts.

Ernie Fuentes, the matchmaker at San Diego's Coliseum is promoter of the Tijuana card. 5,000 or more fans turn out for his cards.

Seats and $2.25, $4.50 and $6.75.

Wife-Husband Team VIPs In Crosby-Honda Tourney

This year's Kathryn Crosby/Honda Civic Golf Classic will have a husband-wife flavor. But the roles will be reversed.

Donna Caponi Young will be earning the money while husband Ken will be concerned with tournament housekeeping.

Donna Young, 13th on last year's LPGA money winning list with $48,804, will be among the more than 100 women professionals expected to seek a slice of the $165,000 purse March 16-19 at Rancho Bernardo.

Ken Young, as tournament director, has the job of keeping all women happy with the playing conditions.

"If I don't like something, Ken hears about it," says Donna. "He has a difficult job, and he's great at it, but I don't spare him my comments just because we're married."

A professional golfer himself, Ken acquired the job through the LPGA, which has the responsibility for the Honda tournament management. He considers the Rancho Bernardo layout a "terrific test" for the women and accommodating for the spectators.

"It's a great site, both for the viewer and the participant," Ken Young said. "It's a course that encourages great shotmaking and allows the gallery excellent viewing areas."

Donna Young, on the LPGA tour since 1965, was a four-time winner in 1976, her best season when she pocketed $106,553. She finished last year's Honda tied for 16th and earned $2,245 with a 72-hole total of 293, 12 strokes off Sandra Palmer's winning total.

"I didn't play much behind my 1976 standard last year but the level of competition on the tour has improved considerably," she said. "It used to be that you could take a half-dozen players and put them in a hat and draw out your eventual winner. That's not so any more. Every tournament is a major struggle and the Honda event, because it attracts such a large field, may be the toughest of them all."

Young also will be participating in the Pro-Am on March 15, when a select women's field will be paired with amateurs. Openings for this event are still available and local golfers interested in participating should contact the tournament office at Rancho Bernardo.

Beneficiary of both the program event and the 72-hole tournament is the Children's Hospital.

Sluggers, Gridders, Throwers Sign for Vantage-TV Tourney

Sluggers Fred Lynn (Red Sox), Jeff Burroughs (Atlanta) and Gary Carter (Montreal) have joined the lineup of major league stars scheduled to play in the Vantage-TV Guide Sports Celebrity Golf Tournament February 6-7 at Pala Mesa Country Club.

San Diego Charger quarterback James Harris, who has played in all three previous events, and Ram runningback Laurence McCutcheon also have submitted their entries as have former Chargers Deacon Jones and Coy Bacon.

The Padres' Rollie Fingers and Bob Shirley, the former one of the celebrity winners last year, are in the field for the 36-hole tournament along with Rick Rhoden (Dodgers), Frank Tanana (Angels), Bert Blyleven (Rangers), Rick Burleson (Red Sox) and Bob Winkles (A's).

A field of nearly 50 baseball and football stars will play in the event that is sponsored by the R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. and TV Guide. The public is invited to watch at no charge.

Ham Operator Needed For Disaster Groups

A "ham" radio operator who holds a reserve commission in the Army, Air Force, Marine Corps, or Navy is being sought by the regional disaster preparedness office.

A new job has been created in the Mobilization Designee (MOBDES) Program of civil defense — that of Assistant Disaster Communications Coordinator for the Unified San Diego County Office of Emergency Services (OES).

MOBDES members drill every Monday night in Fletcher Hills in a non-pay status, earning points toward retirement at age 60. They also serve a two week active duty tour with pay each year at the OES building in El Cajon.

The newly created post oversees the radio networks linking the unincorporated cities and the unincorporated communities with the county's emergency operations center, according to MOBDES Coordinator Jack Duncan.

"Our radio links include both "ham" frequencies and government channels," said Duncan, "so a MOBDES officer who is also a licensed amateur radio operator is ideally suited for this post."

Duncan may be contacted at the Office of Emergency Services, 448-4611.

Volunteers Needed

Volunteers of the city Community Relations' Department's Victim/Witness Project will be honored during an award ceremony February 4, 6 p.m. in the Town and Country Hotel Regency Ballroom, Eastside.

Charles Baldwin, assistant to Governor Brown for volunteerism, will be keynote speaker of the event to which the public is invited. Reservations are to be made prior to January 31 by calling 239-9341.

Chilean Champ On Ring Menu At SD Coliseum

The 5 bouts of professional boxing Friday night at the San Diego Coliseum are made up of 5 different weight divisions, notes Ernie Fuentes, Coliseum matchmaker.

On that night, ladies may enter what was once the man's world of boxing free of charge.

Kids, 12-and-under will also be admitted free. Youngsters must be accompanied by an adult. Ladies need no escort, according to Danny Millsap, promoter.

They'll see the famed Chilean middleweight, Renato Garcia as he takes on Freddie Washington of L.A. who comes fresh from a victory in Anchorage, Alaska. The bout is 10 rounds or less.

Scipio Stubbs, a sparkling lightweight of L.A. returns to meet Ruben Martinez in a 6-round.

Welterweight Mike Rundell of San Diego is scheduled to take on Ken Sheppard of L.A. in a 5-round.

Another 5-round — making 26 rounds in all — has Len Provo of S.D. meeting Dave Smith of L.A. They're heavyweights.

First fight is at 8:15. Tickets are scaled at $2.50, $4 and $5.

Worms in Pets

Public health officials are becoming increasingly concerned about infections of humans with intestinal nematodes (round worms) of dogs and cats.

Many resort beaches do not allow dogs because of the danger of hookworm infection to bathers.

Hookworms are able to burrow into the skin producing a severe dermatitis called creeping eruption.

Fortunately for Californians, hookworm infection in dogs and cats is a rarity since the hookworm belt includes mainly the Atlantic and Gulf seaboard and Southern Appalachian regions.

Pinworms Not from Pets

Although dogs and cats have sometimes been blamed as a source of human pinworm infection, this accusation is without fact.

Pinworms are confined solely to their human hosts which include not only the rural and poor but the urban and all economic classes.

Round Worms

The common round worm of the dog and cat belonging to the genus Toxocara is, however, responsible for some human diseases under certain circumstances. Ingestion of the eggs of this worm by a person can result in a condition known as visceral larva migrans.

In most cases, an infected puppy or kitten acquires its worms from the mother. As the worms mature in the puppy or kitten, they begin to lay eggs which are passed in the stool. Then, because of the young animal's unclean habits, the eggs may be ingested resulting in more adult worms.

This passing of a worm egg and its hatching into a new adult worm illustrates the normal life cycle of the worm in the dog and cat.

If an egg should be ingested by a person it fails to complete its normal life cycle. Rather, the worm becomes lost in an unfamiliar host and may migrate through the body organs such as liver or lungs causing the condition known as visceral larva migrans.

It is only possible to contract the condition by ingestion of the worm eggs. Thus, an infected animal is a potential hazard mainly for infants and small children who, while playing in an infected yard with a certain amount of hand-to-mouth contact, are likely to ingest the eggs.

Pianist in Concert

Major works by Mendelssohn, Grieg, Scriabin and Beethoven will be played by pianist Anton Kuerti during UCSD's music department Scholarship Piano Series, March 15, 8 p.m., in UCSD's Mandeville Auditorium.

Bowl for Hearts Event Held During February

San Diego's 4th annual "Bowl For Hearts" will be held February 4, 5, 11, and 25, at Price's Lomita Bowl, 955 Cardiff st., San Diego.

"Again the event will be sponsored by the San Diego County Bowling Proprietors' Association," 1978 Heart Fund Chairman Joseph A. Barreras said, "but this year, in honor of the lady who initiated the event some three years ago, it will be called the Irene Cash Memorial Bowl For Hearts Tournament."

All proceeds will benefit the Heart Fund and aid in its fight against heart disease.

"The tournament will be launched with a 'Celebrity Kickoff', featuring KOGO radio personalities, professional athletes, beauty queens, community leaders, and Charlie Finlay the fish," Barreras continued. "Festivities will get underway at noon, February 4."

February 11, starting at 3:30 p.m. has been reserved for bowling by juniors.

On that day, clowns will be on hand to entertain.

All other days will be open to the general public, starting at noon.

The cost per squad during the celebrity kick-off is $7.50, $3 for junior bowlers, and $4 for all of the open bowling.

South Bay Bar Elects Three New Directors

South Bay Bar Assn. of S.D. County elected three new Directors and named the organization's officers for 1978.

New Directors are John McGuane who was also elected as president; Robert J. Nareau who was also elected as vice-president, and Frank A. Rockwell who was also elected as secretary.

Additionally, William E. Blatchley will continue as treasurer, and Joan G. Nareau will continue as vice-president.

Rancho SD Opens Another Segment

Sales open Sunday in Phase III at The Homestead, single-family-home community by developer Corky McMillin at Rancho San Diego.

With prices ranging from $65,000 to $79,000, The Homestead is situated on 23 hillside acres with wide-ranging vistas of the surrounding mountainous terrain. It is McMillin's lowest-price home community in San Diego County. FHA financing is available.

"The Homestead is our latest effort at producing an affordable home without sacrifice of good design and construction standards and incorporating the kind of contemporary conveniences today's active families desire," said McMillin, president of MLM Development, Inc.

The $6.7-million development will eventually comprise 85 units. The 34 homes in the first construction phase, which went on the market in early December, had been sold out by the end of last week.

The 22 units in Phase II will be ready for occupancy in early summer. Three model homes are currently under construction. Square footage ranges from 1,303 to 1,861.

Ask Your C.H.P.

CHP Capt. C.M. Louglas

Last week Captain Douglas addressed traffic enforcement for the City of Lemon Grove.

If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It could save a citation or maybe even your life.

Address your questions to this newspaper and please allow at least three weeks for your answer to appear.

This Week's Question:

What is the best thing to do if I break down on the freeway?

Answer:

First of all, attempt to pull to the extreme right shoulder as you can.

Then raise the hood, activate the four-way flasher (if so equipped) and either remain in the vehicle (seat belts on and doors locked) or stand to the right of the vehicle (even farther away from the roadway) to observe traffic.

A good tip for women who are traveling alone is to remain in the vehicle with the doors locked and wait for the CHP to arrive.

If a stranger should arrive before the CHP, just roll down the window a couple of inches and ask the stranger to call the CHP for assistance.

Amtrak Adds Train

Starting February 14 a sixth train between Los Angeles and San Diego will begin operating to increase quantity and quality of rail service to Southern California residents.

The announcement was made by State Transportation Director Adriana Gianturco after she signed a six-month contract between Amtrak and Caltrans.

The new train will depart San Diego 5:45 p.m. Monday through Saturday, arriving at Union Station, Los Angeles, at 8:20 p.m. Southbound, the train leaves L.A. at 4:30 p.m. and arrives in San Diego at 7:05. The train consists of five coaches, two lounge cars and one dome car.

Simultaneously, the schedule of the old 4:30 p.m. train from L.A. has been changed to 5:30 p.m. Stops include Fullerton, Santa Ana, San Juan Capistrano, Oceanside and Del Mar.

New Copyright Law Explained At SD Education Dept. Seminar

The greatly-revised copyright law which went into effect January 1 is significant for educators — while it continues to protect, and in some cases, strengthen the rights of authors and creators of original works, the law allows educational use of copyrighted materials under certain provisions.

Dr. Gray Hoban, editorial coordinator for the San Diego County Department of Education, told librarians, teachers and administrators at a recent meeting on "Copyright and the Educator," the impact of the new law.

Hoban has authored a paper on the new measure, the first major revision of the copyright law since 1909, according to Dr. M. Ted Dixon, superintendent of schools.

"Over the years, particularly in the schools," Hoban said, "there has been confusion as to what is or is not in the public domain or what can or cannot be duplicated for the use in the schools."

"The traditional and most appropriate response has always been, 'if it is copyrighted, do not reproduce it without the express written permission of the copyright owner.'"

Although the new law provides for duplication of classroom materials under the "fair use" doctrine, he said,

Bargaining Conference For School Personnel

An all-day conference on collective bargaining for teachers and other school employees will be held at the Cooper Room of the Community Concourse, February 24. The conference is open to the public.

The purpose of the conference, sponsored by the League of Women Voters and other co-sponsors, is to aid the public become better acquainted with the issues of collective bargaining.

Under the California law, citizens must be allowed to know the bargaining positions of both the employees and the Board of Education and be given time to express their views before bargaining can begin.

The law is designed to protect people's right to influence nature and quality of their children's education.

Dr. Charles Cheng, Assistant Professor at the Graduate School of Education, UCLA, will be the conference's keynote speaker.

A panel of experts will discuss aspects of collective bargaining in the morning and provide insights into public school employee collective bargaining in the afternoon.

Registration fee is $2. Guests might bring their own lunch or make reservations for the buffet luncheon by calling 295-5583.

educators must go to house documents to find specific regulations about what can and cannot be reproduced.

Under the "fair use" provision of the new law, copyrighted materials may be reproduced without securing written permission from the author or creator for purposes such as "criticism, comment, news reporting, teaching (including multiple copies for classroom use), scholarship or research..."

But, Hoban said, there are certain factors that must be considered when applying the "fair use" provision such as the nature of the copyrighted work, the amount and substantiality of the copied portion used and the effect of the use on the potential market for or value of the copyrighted work.

"The 'fair use' provision also applies to library materials," Hoban said.

"The new copyright law itself does set forth specific limitations on the amount of copying that may be done from scholarly books in libraries," he said.

"For the most part, the law is permissive in allowing a scholar to make one copy of a given item from a work in the library. This provision, of course, does not include such things as copying an entire book, but only those portions relative to the work of the scholar."

Hoban cautioned educators not to be trigger-happy on the copying machine.

"In the past there has not been significant prosecution of educators for violation of the copyright law," he reiterated. "While it is impossible to predict whether or not there will be a significant number of charges of copyright infringement leveled against educators in the future, it is important to remember that Public Law 94-553 is a new law and it will be tested."

"Also, since the law does provide for educational 'fair use' and makes other concessions to educators, it is safe to assume that educators will not be immune from prosecution because of ignorance of the law and its provisions."

$355,000 Unclaimed; State Seeks Owners

SACRAMENTO — State Controller Kenneth Cory reported that the proceeds from liquidation of 234 unclaimed estates with a total value of $355,261 were received by his office during the months of October, November, and December, and are being held in safekeeping for the rightful owners.

"During our custody of this property our principal goal will be to restore it to the legal owners," Cory said. "Inquiries about any of the estates should be directed to State Controller, Division of Unclaimed Property, P.O. Box 1019, Sacramento 95805."

Estates permanently escheat to the State if still unclaimed five years after being turned over to the Controller. On December 31, the Controller was in custody of an accumulation of 11,861 estates valued at $11,419,092 and still subject to claim.

San Diego County accounted for $84,000 of the estates received during the three months. Estates received from San Diego County and valued at more than $1,000 are included in the following:

James Burson	$11,187
Robert E. Garnett	5,306
Eric Gulbranson	1,367
Hillard Howren	2,616

Metric System; How it Works

By John Corbett

THINK METRIC — DIVISIONS OF THE METRE

On dictionary says that "decimal" means, "Numbered by tens — each unit being ten times the unit next smaller."

This is the principal upon which the metric system is based.

Accepting the metre as "ten times the unit next smaller," the next smaller unit has been named the "decimetre."

The decimetre, therefore, is one tenth the length of the length of the metre, or saying it another way, there are ten decimetres in a metre (just as there are ten dimes in a dollar).

Associate "deci" with dime — with one tenth of something.

Following the principle of the decimal system, the decimetre must be ten times the unit next smaller. The unit next smaller than the decimetre is the centimetre. There are ten centimetres in a decimetre (just as there are ten cents in a dime).

The prefix "centi" means the 100th part of a unit. You know centi as the 100th part, as used in "percent," and again in "one cent" being 100th part of a dollar.

A centimetre therefore, is the 100th part of a metre.

Associate "centi" with cent — with percent — with one hundredth part of something.

Because there are 100 centimetres in a metre, and because percent means one hundredth part of a whole, any percent of a metre is equal to that same number of centimetres.

The mill, in the United States monetary system, is one thousandth part of a dollar — or one tenth of a cent.

Associate "milli" with mill — with one tenth of a cent.

The increment next smaller than the centimetre is the millimetre. There are ten millimetres in a centimetre. A millimetre is about the thickness of a dime.

Ten millimetres in a centimetre and one hundred centimetres in a metre makes one thousand (10 x 100) millimetres in a metre.

The millimetre permits measuring length to a degree of accuracy which is generally acceptable under ordinary circumstances.

$1,000 For Info On Redwood Vandals

The California State Park Rangers Association has posted a $1,000 reward for information leading to the apprehension and conviction of the person or persons responsible for severely damaging 12 old-growth redwood trees in redwood parks along Highway 101 south of Eureka.

Other rewards offered bring the total to $2,100. The Associated California Loggers have posted a $100 reward, and the Reverend Thomas Deveraux, pastor of the Church of the Assumption in Ferndale, has offered a $100 reward.

California state park rangers discovered the vandalized trees during the past 3 weeks. The trees, 4 to 12 feet in diameter and 150 to 300 feet tall, were cut part way through by chain saws. The estimated commercial value of the trees is $90,000.

State and county authorities have urged anyone with any information that might help to stop the vandalism to contact the Humboldt County Sheriff's Office at (707) 445-7505, the Mendocino County Sheriff's Office at (707) 462-2951, the California Department of Parks and Recreation at (707) 443-4588 or CALTRANS at (707) 442-5761.

Comptroller Cory Has Mailed Tax Postponement Packages

SACRAMENTO — State Controller Kenneth Cory has mailed to 6,600 older Californians the first certificates to be used in postponing property taxes on owner-occupied homes under the new Senior Citizens Property Tax Postponement law.

"We estimate that if all these first certificates are used to the fullest possible extent they will cover some $7 million in property taxes," Cory said. "They will make it possible for many of the recipients to continue enjoying their homes in the face of rising tax burdens and inflation battered incomes."

The certificates are being mailed to the first group of older homeowners who were certified as eligible after applying to the State Franchise Tax Board under terms of a new law enacted last October.

Applications continue to reach the Franchise Tax Board and more certificates will be mailed regularly as eligibility is determined by the Franchise Tax Board.

"January 31 is the deadline for filing applications for postponement of 1977-78 taxes," Cory added. "Many homeowners are just now learning about the program and they should quickly contact the Franchise Tax Board office nearest them to determine if participation would be to their advantage."

The program is purely voluntary and even after receiving the certificates, the taxpayer may elect to pay the taxes and not participate in the postponement program.

Under the law, eligible applicants may use the certificates to postpone all or part of their property taxes for the 1977-78 tax year and any delinquent years, provided the property has not already been deeded to the State because of non-payment of taxes.

That part of the homeowner's tax bill which is postponed by the certificates then becomes a lien against the property which must be paid with interest when the owner moves or the property changes ownership through sale or estate settlement, or if future taxes become delinquent.

"Obviously these first certificates are reaching the applicants after the delinquency date for the first installment of 1977-78 property taxes," Cory said. "However, the law provides that they may use the certificates to postpone the delinquent portion without and delinquency penalty or interest charge."

The certificates also may be used to cover delinquent 1976-77 taxes without penalty and interest charge. If the certificates are used to cover 1975-76 or earlier delinquency, the penalties and interest will be added to the amount of the lien.

If an applicant already has paid part or all of the 1977-78 tax levy, the certificates may be used to claim a refund from the county.

Sen. Briggs Calls Mayor Wilson 'Naive'

Senator John V. Briggs (R-Fullerton), a Republican candidate for Governor and a strong supporter of the Jarvis Property Tax Reduction and Reform Initiative, has termed San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson, says Los Angeles County is "hurting" more than in areas outside Los Angeles. That is naive. Actually, tax payments by property owners have increased much more in areas outside Los Angeles than in Los Angeles. The fact is that property taxes throughout the state have reached ruinous levels, and that is why I strongly support the Jarvis Amendment."

The Senator then declared that "Pete Wilson says urban areas are more concerned than rural areas. I strongly disagree. Our farmers are California's highest per-capita property taxpayers, and recent increases in farm land assessments have driven many farmers into a very difficult financial posture — especially in the face of reduced farm income because of the drought and drops in wholesale farm prices."

"Unrealistic property taxes adversely affect all our citizens, from retired persons living on a fixed income to farmers and construction workers and small businesses as well as every homeowner."

People know they cannot count on the legislature to act. The liberal Democrat politicians in control there do not really want property tax relief — they fear cuts in welfare and other government spending.

The Jarvis Amendment is the last real chance for the people to gain property tax relief and reform. That is why I am for it," Briggs said.

Two Join Thren's Real Estate Firm

Two new salespersons have joined the Dan Thren real estate sales and investment organization.

Courtney Leathers became a real estate salesman on December 28 and will specialize in residential property.

Leathers, who lives in the Summit Mobile Lodge in Encanto, is a native of Bellingham, Wash. He attended W. Washington State College.

Lois Worthington, a former high school PE teacher at Sutherlin, Oregon was credentialled January 1. A 20-year resident of the county, she will be involved in all phases of real estate investment. She is a graduate of U. of Oregon State College.

She lives in Strevview ave. west of Lemon Grove.

Judge Jobs Open

Dear Editor:

The Municipal Court of the San Diego Judicial District is presently authorized 22 judges. Since January 1, 1977, two of these judicial offices have been vacant, and the Governor has not seen fit to fill them by appointment.

This being an election year, the Court would like to give public notice that these two vacant judicial offices are open to the election process, along with other judicial offices which are presently occupied by incumbent judges.

The Court would urge all qualified lawyers who may be interested in filling those two judicial vacancies to file their Notice of Intention, as the Court would like to attain its full, authorized complement of judges.

The Notice of Intention must be filed with the Registrar of Voters during the period of January 30, through February 8, at 5 p.m.

T. Bruce Iredale
Presiding Judge
San Diego Judicial District

Tax Postponement Deadline Is Tues.

Senior citizen homeowners have until Tuesday to postpone payment of their 1977-78 property taxes.

The end of January is the deadline for filing a postponement claim and there are no provisions for late filing.

Enacted by the State Legislature last fall, the Senior Citizens Property Tax Postponement Law gives older homeowners the option of having the State pay their residential property taxes and filing a lien on the property.

To be eligible, the claimant and all co-owners except the claimant's spouse must be 62 years or older, occupy the residence, have a total household income of $20,000 or less, and have at least a 20 percent equity in the property.

They also must have the homeowners' exemption and receive a separate tax bill.

Qualified homeowners who file timely claims will receive certificates from the State Controller. These may be used to pay off all or part of both the first and second installments of 1977-78 property taxes.

Additionally, delinquent taxes for prior years also can be postponed this first year.

The certificates should be taken to the tax collector and filled in, showing the amount to be postponed.

The taxpayer who already has paid the first installment, which was due December 12, 1977, will receive a refund from the county for the amount paid.

Ed Show Due at Local Schools

The educational touring show, "Zounds, a Phonic!", continues with performances in San Diego and other Southern California communities through January. Director Bennett E. McClellan anticipates the show extending through March.

At present, "Zounds, a Phonic!" has been seen by over 14,000 students. The 5-member acting company includes Nelson Bradshaw, Jody Cardwell, Gerry Edwards, Ken Starcevic and Nancy Teas. Genesis Theatre in La Mesa should be contacted for bookings.

Performances will be given at Rancho Elementary School today and Mt. Miguel High School Saturday at 3 p.m.

Youth Talent Auditions Held in Early February

All young musicians interested in participating in the annual Youth Talent Auditions sponsored by the La Jolla Civic/University Symphony, will have a chance February 18 and 19, in the Mandeville Recital Hall, UCSD.

Contestants must be residents of San Diego County or a student in a San Diego County school. They must be at least high school seniors and not to exceed 25 years of age.

The prize money of $525 will be shared by nine winners in three categories: pianists, instrumentalists and singers.

Auditions for piano will be February 18, from 10 a.m. to noon. Orchestral instruments will be 1:30 to 4 p.m.

Voice auditions are scheduled for 1:30 to 4 p.m. February 19.

Application instructions and requirements may be secured from the Youth Talent Auditions Committee, Box 987, Del Mar, CA 92014 or phone 755-0921; or 459-5678.

Application deadline is February 10.

Lemon Grove (CA.) REVIEW

Jan. 26, 1978

LEGAL NOTICES

THE BENDS in the Spring Valley Creek drainage system like this one near Bancroft and Koontz streets will be one of the problems corrected in a $2.25 million project planned for the creek area.

Spring Valley 'Flood Zone' To Cost Residents $2.5 Million

Another example of the nearsightedness of federal bureaucrats in Washington has shown its head to the property owners lining the banks of Spring Valley Creek.

This time, the federal government is telling the property owners along the 12 mile creek they must buy expensive flood control insurance or never again bother applying to a bank for a loan to buy or improve their property.

At issue is a 1973 federal law — the Federal Flood Act — passed by Congress to control building along the highly flood prone river lowlands of the Mississippi, Missouri, Illinois, and Ohio Rivers.

The law lays down two flood designations, A-zones and B-zones, the first requires federal flood control insurance while the other states it is "suggested".

But what does all this have to do with Spring Valley Creek?

According to James Adamo, County Flood Control Commissioner for Zone 3, the area which includes Spring Valley Creek, the Army Corps of Engineers submitted the data to the federal government and with this data, the feds went wild.

Adamo said no acceptable flood data was available on the Spring Valley Creek area so the federal government took the average amount of rainfall from another area, the Sierra Madre, and used it as example of a 100 year flood for Spring Valley Creek.

The average rainfall in the Sierra Madre is about 30 inches.

So the federal government figured, an average rainfall for the Sierra Madre would come close to equalling the conditions which would exist along Spring Valley Creek after a 100 year flood — devastating conditions which by the law of averages happen once every 100 years.

So the feds further reasoned, since the average rainfall in the Spring Valley area is about 8 inches and the area is covered mostly by houses and rock, 30 inches of rainfall would about equal 8 inches with increased run-off.

Enter the Spring Valley Creek.

Spring Valley Creek is the only collector of rainfall in the area. Water from all over the Spring Valley flood plain drains into it. The creek is considered to be the concrete ditch which runs along Bancroft and Sweetwater road.

Flood Control Commissioner Adamo said the citizens believe the Creek is nothing more than a drainage ditch. Many citizens believe it is mere absurdity for the federal government to classify the area in the same boat with the river plains of the Mississippi.

But Adamo said his idea is to improve the existing drainage system to meet federal demands so that "no one can ever come back and say you have a flood problem."

Adamo's idea is to seek a compromise between problem seeking federal bureaucrats and a drainage system which may be outmoded.

"There needs to be some improvement in the current drainage system," Adamo explained. "The old concrete system is cracking. So what we have proposed is grass channel which will meet both federal requirements as well as make the area look better."

In the beginning, the Army Corps of Engineers said the entire twelve mile stretch of creek, which includes the concrete waterway along both Bancroft street and Sweetwater road, must be replaced.

The cost for the labor and the concrete was estimated at some $11 million.

When the San Diego County Board of Supervisors heard the $11 million figure, the Army Corps of Engineers was dumped and another engineering firm sought.

Hired was the Willdan Engineering firm of Anaheim.

Willdan President Dan Heil said his plan had a tentative figure of $2.5 million.

Heil will propose to the Board of Supervisors later this month the existing drainage system be widened, the old concrete structure removed and the ditch replaced with grass.

But some of the citizens along the creek told the engineer they were not willing to give up the extra 75 feet of land to widen the Creek.

Flood Commissioner Adamo said an upcoming meeting of the Zone 3 flood commissioners will present the issue to the citizens for input.

But as it stands now, the compromise between over zealous federal employees and the property owners along Spring Valley Creek may be a long way down the river.

Wadie Deddeh Cites Record As Re-Election Decision

Assemblyman Wadie P. Deddeh (80th Dist.) will again be a candidate for re-election to the Legislature.

He pledged to continued as an active representative of the individual and community interests of South Bay area residents.

A 12-year veteran and a moderate Democrat he has attracted increasing bipartisan majorities in past elections.

Deddeh is best known as the author of legislation which created the State Department of Transportation.

Three successive Assembly Speakers both Republican and Democrat have appointed him to committee chairmanships since the beginning of his second term in 1969, and he presently leads the Committee on Public Employees and Retirement.

Previously he was chairman of the Transportation Committee and the Committee on Finance and Insurance.

The former Southwestern College instructor has been active in school and community college legislation and has in the past enjoyed the support of all educational groups. He maintains that education is the corner-stone in the greatness of our state and country. "Free elections and representative government are great privileges," Deddeh said, "but they require equally great responsibility from all of us. That is why good education is so important."

W-2 Forms Due Tuesday For 1977 Tax Returns

W-2 forms from your employer should be in your hands by Tuesday.

According to the Internal Revenue Service, your employer by law must mail the forms before January elapses.

The IRS recommends taxpayers begin to gather the data needed to prepare this year's income tax return.

Among the necessary documents, the IRS suggests the following data be gathered.

—Filing status and dependents. Be prepared to prove your right to the head of household status if you claim that eligibility.

—Income. Have records showing any interest or dividend income received, rent income or other miscellaneous payments. It's a good idea to have paycheck stubs handy in case of a discrepancy in your W-2 forms.

—Adjustments to income. You will need records for any disability expenses, moving expenses, certain employee expenses and alimony payments.

—Itemized deductions. Get together your receipts for taxes, records of charitable contributions, medical and dental expenses, interest payments, and proof for any other allowable deduction.

—Credits. This includes payments for the care of a dependent child, receipts for installation of an approved solar energy device, credit for taxes paid to another state, and the water equipment tax credit.

—Capital gains or losses. Taxpayers who claim these gains or losses will need records of investments, sales information and other related data.

Also, taxpayers with business income need records to document their business costs.

The number for the local Franchise Tax Board is 237-7678.

CRIME FIGHT

Tip of the Week

"Not everyone who comes to your door is a friend. While the stranger ringing your doorbell may be a salesman or a census taker, there is a chance he could be a criminal looking for an easy victim. Know who is at your door. Ask for identification, then verify it. Install a peep hole in the door to identify the caller. Never automatically open your door when someone knows, especially if you're home alone."

The material is supplied by the S.D. County Sheriff's Department as part of an ongoing crime suppression program.

SD-Imperial NAB Seeks Posts for Disadvantaged

The San Diego - Imperial Counties Metro of the National Alliance of Businessmen has set a goal of securing jobs and job training for 3,500 disadvantaged, Vietnam-era veterans, needy youth and ex-offenders before October 1978.

NAB Metro chairman Fred C. Stalder, president and chief executive officer of Central Federal Savings & Loan Assn., announced a package of concentrated pledge campaigns, public awareness programs and work experience in setting the goals at a Monday briefing.

He said, "National figures indicate an estimated $17,000 is returned to the economy in the first year for each person hired at minimum wage, based on increased spending power, contributions to income, Social Security and sales taxes, reduction of employment insurance cost, savings in welfare and support costs and contribution to gross national product."

Stalder said Central Federal vice president Bob Klaiber, on loan to NAB as fiscal 1978 Metro director, will head pledge campaigns aimed at reaching more than 1,500 San Diego and Imperial counties employers.

Klaiber will direct such activities as a February emphasis on jobs for ex-offenders, February through August youth campaign and March through May disadvantaged Vietnam-era veteran pledge program.

The NAB is a coalition of business, labor, education and government agencies mandated by the White House in the spring of 1968 to help solve chronic unemployment and under-employment as well as break the poverty cycle for needy youth through exposure to business.

What You Should Know

About Your Health

Headaches in Children

Headaches are the most frequent cause of children's complaints involving the nervous system.

Although most headaches are not caused by a disease of the brain, occasionally a child's complaint of headache may suggest a significant problem to your physician.

Parents should treat occasional, intermittent headaches in children with reassurance and judicious use of aspirin.

However, if it becomes necessary to use aspirin more than four or five times during a week, the child should be examined by a doctor.

A child under the age of four who persistently complains of a headache should also see a doctor since it is unusual for children this young to mention a headache.

However, if adults in the family tend to channel their physical complaints into "headaches," then some young children frequently will mimic them and complain of a headache, no matter what is troubling them.

If a child has been unconscious or continues to complain of a headache 12 hours after a head injury, he or she should be examined by a doctor.

The more serious headaches of childhood generally fall into four categories: (1) Those caused by increased pressure inside the skull that results from a tumor or other mass in the brain; (2) migraine headaches; (3) tension headaches; and (4) cervical neuritis.

Although the brain tissue itself has no sensation, the presence of a space-occupying mass in the brain can cause increased pressure inside the skull which in turn causes headache that often may be accompanied by persistent vomiting, particularly early in the morning; double vision; turning of the eyes inward or outward; and convulsions.

Although such masses are very rare in children, a child with any of these symptoms should be examined.

Even small infants may develop migraine attacks. Younger children cannot tell you about their attacks but instead may vomit, become irritable and be sensitive to light.

If your family has a history of migraine, the child's physician may suspect childhood migraine when these symptoms occur.

Migraine headaches in older children may be treated with ergot (a substance obtained from a grain fungus) preparations and occasionally with sedation.

Migraine headaches are quite unpredictable. Approximately one-third of the children with migraine will continue to have occasional attacks throughout their lives; another third, particularly females during various periods of their menstrual cycles, will have migraine attacks that become worse as they grow older; and the other third will not have attacks as adults.

Children who have tension headaches usually are anxious and complain of headache that radiates from the back of the head into the neck and shoulder muscles, causing marked stiffness. If your child's school, play or peer relationship are significantly disturbed by headaches, he or she should be evaluated by a physician.

At times, headache may indicate a psychological disturbance in a child, and you should find out whether the headaches are occurring only at certain times of the day — such as during school or while the child is at play — since tension headaches tend to increase as emotional problems worsen. An attempt should be made to resolve the problems or the child may continue to complain of headaches throughout life.

Cervical neuritis, which may develop after even slight injury to the neck region, causes children to complain of constant backache that worsens when they move their necks. They usually cannot pinpoint the area of the headache but imply they feel it in the forehead or over the entire head. Cervical neuritis frequently responds dramatically to a neck collar.

Most children's headaches are not serious and many will respond to reassurance or the occasional use of aspirin. A headache that persists longer than several days, or is accompanied by any of the symptoms described requires a physician's attention.

Prepared by the California Medical Association. Specific questions on the subject should be directed to your physician.
